PROGRAMME OF THE PRESIDENT OF the 114th ASSEMBLY OF THE INTER-PARLIAMENTARY UNION

---

General indications

The functions of the President of the Assembly of the Inter-Parliamentary Union are extremely important. In accordance with the Statutes and Rules, as well as IPU practice, the President of the Assembly is not only called upon to play a leading role both as regards directing the debates and the smooth functioning of the Assembly, but also to negotiate and hold consultations, together with the IPU President, and with the assistance of the Secretary General. The Assembly President might be called upon to promote the search for compromise solutions on sensitive issues with a view to ensuring fruitful results for the session particularly, if the Assembly decides to include an emergency item.

The President of the Assembly is elected by the Assembly itself, on the proposal of the Governing Council. In practice, even though the candidature is submitted by the host Parliament, it is usually proposed by a delegation with whom it has friendly relations. The candidature is endorsed by the Governing Council and ratified by the Assembly at the start of its work. Thereafter, the President presides over the work of the Assembly for the plenary General Debate; in particular he opens the sittings and is present at the close of each sitting, insofar as possible, in order to be in the Chair when delegations exercise their right of reply.

So that the Assembly President may receive as many courtesy calls as possible by delegations to the Assembly and according to IPU tradition, it is customary for the President to call on a number of Vice-Presidents to replace him in the Chair during sittings. The Vice-Presidents thus required to replace the President are chosen by the latter, with the help of the Secretariat, taking into account a geopolitical balance and a rotation among IPU Member Parliaments over the years.

The President will decide if he wishes to personally welcome the President of the Inter-Parliamentary Union and the IPU Secretary General upon their arrival in the country.

*****

The following are indications of times at which the presence of the Assembly President is desirable:

Thursday, 4 May

3 p.m. The President welcomes the members of the Executive Committee before they start their work. Also at that time, the President may wish to extend an invitation to the members of the Executive Committee for the dinner he is hosting for on Friday, 5 May at..... It is very helpful if the President's assistant can provide details to the Secretary of the Assembly, of any special arrangements made for Executive Committee members (and their spouses) at the Inaugural Ceremony. The Secretariat will then prepare a detailed document for the Executive Committee members.

Sunday, 7 May

At a time convenient for the President, a meeting is held with the Secretary General and the Secretary of the Assembly. All matters concerning the Assembly proceedings are reviewed on that occasion. The meeting lasts for at least one hour and it is very useful if the President's Secretariat can attend the session, as it will be called upon to work closely with the Assembly Secretary during the Assembly.

9.30 AM

The President may wish to make a brief speech of welcome at the opening of the Meeting of Women Parliamentarians (9.30 a.m.).

The Inaugural Ceremony will take place at 7.30 p.m.

7.30 AM

Monday, 8 May

8 a.m. The Steering Committee, chaired by the President of the Assembly, holds its first meeting. Normally this meeting lasts until the start of the Governing Council's first sitting at 9 a.m. The meeting is essential in planning the business for the opening plenary sitting later that morning, reviewing different agenda items and, in particular, arrangements foreseen for the possible vote on the emergency item which could be held in the afternoon.

8 AM

9 a.m. The Governing Council will under item 3 of its agenda make a proposal for the Assembly President. The proposal is usually made by a delegation with which the host Parliament has friendly relations. The President may wish to be present to acknowledge the proposal of the Council.

9 AM

10.15 a.m. First plenary sitting of the Assembly. The IPU President opens the sitting. The first item is the election of the President. The IPU President proposes, on behalf of the Council, that Mr. Francis F. X. Ole-Kaparo, President of the National Assémbly of Kenya, be elected as President of the 114th Assembly.

Mr. Ole Kaparo is elected by acclamation. Mr. Ole Kaparo, who is sitting with the delegation of Kenya proceeds to the podium, takes the Chair and says a few words of thanks. The President assumes his functions and after informing the Assembly of the decisions taken by the Steering Committee, he declares open agenda item 3 - the General Debate on the political, economic and social situation in the world. (A document providing step-by-step information on this first sitting, prepared by the Assembly Secretary, will be handed over to the President of the Assembly in Nairobi on Saturday, 6 May and will be updated according to the evolution of the negotiations, basically on the item of the inclusion of an emergency item.)

speech

2.30 p.m. Second sitting of the Assembly with the continuation of the General Debate.

4.30 p.m. Vote on the possible inclusion of an emergency item on the Assembly agenda. Once the result has been announced, the General Debate resumes. After some speeches, the President of the Assembly may wish to offer the presidency to some Vice-Presidents.

4-30
Emergency
item

At approx. 6.15 p.m. It is appreciated if the President of the Assembly is present in the plenary for any rights of reply; his authority ensures the orderly conclusion of the sitting.

4.30 p.m. Opening of the plenary and continuation of the General debate after the close of the Panel discussion. After some speeches, the President of the Assembly may wish to offer the presidency to some Vice-Presidents.

6.15 AM

At approx. 6.15 p.m. It is appreciated if the President of the Assembly is present in the plenary for any rights of reply; his authority ensures the orderly conclusion of the sitting.

Wednesday, 10 May

No plenary sitting today.

9.30 -12.30 Panel discussion HIV/AIDS and Children.- The President would probably wish to to be present at the beginning of the Panel.

10.30 a.m. Possible meeting of the Steering Committee, maximum one hour. The remainder of the President's schedule will depend on the inclusion or not of an emergency item on the Assembly agenda and for which the President may be called upon to act as mediator.

Thursday, 11 May

9 a.m. The plenary sittings resume, with the President in the Chair, if possible. After some speeches, the President of the Assembly may wish to offer the presidency to some Vice-Presidents.

12.45 p.m. It is appreciated if the President of the Assembly is present in the plenary for any rights of reply; his authority ensures the orderly conclusion of the sitting.

1 p.m. Close of the sitting

2.30 p.m. Plenary debate, with the President in the Chair, if possible. After some speeches, the President of the Assembly may wish to offer the presidency to some Vice-Presidents.

6 p.m. approx. If possible, the President should be present for rights of reply at the close of the General Debate.

Friday, 12 May

During the morning session of the Governing Council and at a time convenient to the President, the Secretary of the Assembly is available to review the business for the final plenary sitting of the afternoon, and evoke possible problems which might arise at the time of the adoption of the resolutions.

4 p.m. The President of the Assembly presides over the last sitting of the Assembly, after the close of the Governing Council at 4 p.m. approximately. There may be a press conference after the close of the Assembly (6 p.m. approximately).

0900hrs:

Visit to Nyumbani Children's Home

Nyumbani (Swahili for Home) Children of God Relief Institute is the first hospice for HIV Positive Orphans in Kenya. Nyumbani was founded to provide comprehensive psycho-social care for HIV children by Fr. Angelo D'Agostino, SJ, the MD. This is achieved by giving the available nutritional, medical, psycho-social and spiritual care to the orphans. Two-thirds of the children are currently on ARV treatment. All the children are able to attend school due to the relatively good health condition they enjoy through the home. Currently the home is hosting 93 orphans and is located at the Karen area, 15 Km from the city centre.

1100hrs:

Visit to the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust

The Trust embraces all measures that compliment the conservation, preservation and protection of wildlife. These include anti-poaching, safe guarding the natural environment, enhancing community awareness, addressing animal welfare issues and providing Veterinary assistance to animals in need. An important project is the rescue, hand rearing and rehabilitation of elephant and rhino orphans as well as orphans of many wild species that can ultimately enjoy quality life in wild terms when grown.

"Every person that buys ivory has killed an elephant and its dependent young and has caused immeasurable sorrow and suffering to many others" Dr. Daphne Sheldrick M.B.E. M.B.S., UNEP Global 500 Laureate
